1. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow :

Overeating is one of the most wonderful practices among those who think that they can afford it. There are people who can get as much as they desire and so they over-eat to their disadvantage. Such people could save much food by missing one meal per week and also improve their health.

A heavy meal at night, the so called dinner, is taken shortly before retiring. Three to five hours are needed to digest food. A light and early evening meal conserves energy and reduces the cost of food.
